Profile

We're all working hard to make up for our generation's ecoexcess by drilling the green message home with the offspring. The recycling bin is practically the new toy chest. Well, here's a way to indoctrinate the munchkins and learn a thing or two about jazz at the same time: a soundtrack! Jazz musician Hayes Greenfield performs tunes from his delightful new collection, Music for a Green Planet. The groove is excellent, the lyrics serious yet silly. — Alexandra Zissu
